General Terms Applicable to Private Mobile Radio System Licence

Private Mobile Radio System Licence will be issued subject to the following general terms. Please read them carefully:

1. Private Mobile Radio System Licences will be granted only to applicants who can show to the satisfaction of the Communications Authority that they are concerned with the operation of a business for which there is an essential need for a mobile radio system. A licence will not be granted for the purpose of enabling any organisation to establish a communication system for the benefit of other parties.
2. In general, the Communications Authority will only license vehicles, ships or other marine crafts which are locally registered and are being used specifically in connection with the business of the applicant as stated in the application form.
3. The licence issued by the Communications Authority to operate a Private Mobile Radio System is only valid for operation within Hong Kong territories. The use of the system to communicate with any station outside Hong Kong territories is strictly forbidden. Likewise, when a mobile station of the system is located outside Hong Kong territories, communication with that particular mobile station must be suspended.
4. The licensed stations shall be available for inspection at all reasonable times by duly authorised officers of the Communications Authority.
5. Only messages concerned with the stated business of the licensee shall be passed on the private mobile radio system. The approved call sign shall be used in the establishment of communication. The use of foul or offensive language is strictly forbidden. Where a frequency is being shared, no one party is permitted to monopolize the use of the channel.
6. Only equipment that is type-approved by the Communications Authority shall be permitted for use.
7. The Communications Authority reserves the right to publish at its discretion the licensee's name and address, and the assigned frequencies.
8. The licence is not transferable.
9. Prior approval from the Communications Authority is required for any changes to any of the licensed stations. The Communications Authority may in some cases require a change to the frequency(ies) assigned or impose additional conditions. All expenses thereby incurred will have to be borne by the licensee.
10. In the event of contravention by the licensee of any of the licence conditions, the Communications Authority may, without any compensation to the licensee, cancel, suspend or revoke the licence granted.
11. If any message, the receipt of which is not authorised by the licence, is received by means of the licensed stations, neither the licensee nor any person using the station shall make known the contents of any such message, its origin or destination, its existence or the fact of its receipt to any person except a duly authorised officer of the Communications Authority or a competent legal tribunal, and shall not retain any copy or make use of any such message, or allow it to be reproduced in writing, copied or made use of.
